

Debaters Enter Tournament At Morgan State College

The Robert Bellarmine Debating Society will participate in the Annual O.W. Holmes Invitational Debating Tournament tomorrow at Morgan State College.

Representing Loyola is an affirmative team consisting of juniors Bill Scholtes and Denny Keating and a negative team of freshmen Dick Fleming and Dan Kelleher. Both Judge James Perrott, Moderator, and Father John Connor S.J., Assistant Moderator, will act as judges. Thirty-seven colleges and universities will debate the national topic: "Resolved: That the federal government shall guarantee the opportunity for higher education for every qualified high school graduate."

Later this month, Loyola will join the approximately one hundred schools that will participate in the Annual Harvard Invitational Debating Tournament. This tournament, consisting of competition both in oratory, extemp speaking, and debating, will be held in Cambridge from January 30 to February 1.

To date, the Loyola varsity has compiled a 5-8 record. The individual point averages (based on a possible high of 25) are: Keating-20.0, Fleming-17.9, Kelleher-16.1, and Scholtes-14.0. Loyola is pointing toward a winning record in 1964 competition beginning with the Morgan tourney.

Rector's Thanks

To all who expressed in writing and on Christmas cards their wishes for a blessed Christmas season for me, I send thanks by way of this issue of the GREYHOUND.

Letter to the Editor

December 16, 1963

Dear Editor,

Mr. Keating's latest exploration into the "topical issues of interest" without doubt lacked perspective and direction—he took upon himself the task of historically evaluating the late President John F. Kennedy. Such a premature effort would, of itself, have been in poor taste; yet, its cleverly constructed defamatory contents far surpassed the limits of propriety.

I, for one, hope that Mr. Keating will secure and read the inaugural address of our 35th President and that, secondly, he refrain from using the GREYHOUND as a political platform.

Dean Warns Cafe Clean Up

The Student Council met on Wednesday, January 8, two days before their regularly scheduled meeting.

The purpose was to discuss a possible solution to the "bitterly shameful" condition of the cafeteria as demanded by Fr. Bourbon. This situation is due to the failure of students to remove their trash and trays from the tables to the dish room.

Clarification

Fr. Bourbon at last made clear to the Council members at a meeting in his office on Monday that it is the sole responsibility of the students to perform this task. Also it was made clear by the Dean of Men that unless drastic steps be taken the cafeteria would be closed to students.

Furthermore, he assigned the Council members and class officers the job of supervising the cleaning of the cafeteria. At the Council meeting the members refused to undertake this task until its committee report is completed, because they felt that this duty is not the proper function of the Council.

Volunteers

The majority of the Council members, however, have stated at the meeting their willingness to remind their fellow students of their duty to clear their tables after they finish eating. But, this is to be solely on an individual and personal basis.

The President of the Council submitted the resolution (as printed on this page) to Fr. Bourbon. Upon suggestion by Mr. Lancelotta the cafeteria help will not clean or clear tables from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. This went into effect on Wednesday, January 8 at 11 o'clock.

Thespians Present Pinter's 'Caretaker'

The Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society will present its second production, "The Caretaker," on January 17 and 18 in Cohn Hall at 8:15 p.m.

There will be no admission charge. The play is to be presented in the round and is under the direction of Miss Carol Goode. "The Caretaker" was written by British playwright Harold Pinter. There are only three characters involved.

The plot concerns two brothers, Mick and Aston, portrayed by freshman William Nugent and sophomore Charles Lowe. The third character of the play, which belongs to the theater of the absurd, is played by senior Ed Conery.

The two brothers bring an old man to live with them as caretaker of their apartment. After discovering that one of the brothers was once subjected to shock treatment while a patient in a mental institution, he tries to turn the two brothers against one another.

Loyola Scores On Law Exam

"Loyola College," remarked Dr. Nicholas Varga, "has reason to be proud of the students who took the Law School Aptitude Test in the Fall." The median score for the fourteen day sessions seniors, Dr. Varga announced, was better than 60% of the thousands who have taken the test in the last six years.

Even more noteworthy were some of the individual scores. Brian Copenhagen, a history major, got a 655; this put him in the top 5%. A political science major, Sam Rea, got the second highest score. "These individual and median scores reflect the ability and achievement of our students; they have honored the College," said Dr. Varga.

Gerstung to Talk To Loyola Yr's

A prominent Republican leader in the Baltimore area, Mr. Robert Gerstung, will address the Young Republican Club on Monday, January 13 in the Student Lounge at 4:30.

His topic will be on precinct politics, an interesting subject for all interested people in local politics.

Mr. Gerstung is a member of the Senior Executive Board of the Loyola Young Republican Club. He was a candidate for the office of the President of the Baltimore City Council in the 1963 mayoral election. He was barely edged out by Thomas D'Alesandro III.

Student Council Passes Motion

The following motion was passed by the Student Council:

Recognizing the seriousness and undesirability of the existing conditions in the cafeteria relating to the unsightly accumulation of litter and eating utensils and other like problems.

But with a firm belief that it previously has not been made sufficiently clear to the student body that its members were to be responsible for keeping the cafeteria clean in this respect out of a sense of duty, a belief reinforced by two facts, namely:

1) The following excerpt from the 1963-64 Student Handbook (p. 16), which indicates a hopeful request for cooperation rather than a strict delineation of duty:

"When you have finished eating please clean all paper, dishes, and silverware from the table which you have used. Your cooperation and thoughtfulness in this will enable the next group using the cafeteria to start their meal more quickly, and with far less inconvenience."

2) The activities of the cafeteria employees in regularly cleaning the cafeteria in the past.

I move that the student council direct its president to appoint a special committee to study this situation and report back to the council as soon as practicable, including in its report specific recommendations for a permanent solution to the existing difficulties in the cafeteria.

'Romeo & Juliet' At Film Seminar

The Loyola College film seminar will hold another in its series of meetings tonight. The film will be shown at 7:45 in Ruzicka Hall. Tonight's feature will be Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet."

After the film, a discussion will take place in the Student Lounge. Both old and new members are encouraged to attend, and all are reminded that there is no admission.

Editorial

PIGS

The events of the week before Christmas which led to the closing of the cafeteria are sufficiently well known to the student body to need no recapitulation here. Nor need we describe at any great length the sloppy, and in fact filthy, conditions which have prevailed in the cafe within the memory of present students of the College in spite of the fact that the Administration and employees of the Slater System have exhorted, cajoled, and labored beyond the call of duty.

The reasons for the pigpen conditions in the cafeteria are many: bad habit, immaturity, lack of home training. But perhaps the chief reason is the failure of too many students to appreciate the harmful consequences of this condition to themselves not only collectively, but also individually. Many guests of the College pass through the cafe in the course of a week, and consciously or not they carry away with them an impression of the College. If that impression is one of babified rowdies who lack even the elementary savoir faire to clean up their own mess those rowdies will receive short shrift when they apply for jobs. Those rowdies are not strangers, they are your own classmates—one of them is probably you.

Members of the Student Council have been requested to take turns being present in the cafe during the lunch periods to remind their fellow-students of the elementary amenities. Such a step is an imposition on the time of the Council members which should really be unnecessary and will rapidly become unnecessary if the students of Loyola have any regard for themselves and their fellow-students.

Ultimately, however, the Administration cannot force the students to act decently and the time spent by the members of the Council will be in vain unless each individual student has the elementary decency and self-respect to bus his own table. It's only a small thing and it takes less than sixty seconds, but the results can be astonishing.

the Watchdog?!

As we return from the grand vacation, the Dog hopes everyone had an Elite holiday in the true spirits of the season.

The Dog hears that Father Scanlan and Joe Blum are heading a committee to investigate the possibility of shortening class periods to 30 minutes.

Upon returning to school, we are happy to note that Father Bourbon's pantry is again open for business.

Albright, an Evangelical United Brethren College, took part in the Loyola Invitational Tournament. Calvin Kirby was leading the Loyola cheers against Albright.

The Dog has noticed many customers in Fr. Davish's book shop these days. My, it must be exam time.

The word comes to the Doghouse that George Sunderland got just what he wanted for Christmas, a sword. We can just see him now leading the charge down the hill to the Dell Building.

The Dog, finding himself on the sports page this week, would like to encourage all to attend the Hound-Mount Game tomorrow night.

Klarner's Men Travel To LaSalle

Coach Klarner and his swimming team are finding things a bit rough these days. After a tough swing south in which the Hounds suffered defeat at the hand of V.M.I., and Washington and Lee, they do not find a lull in their stormy schedule. Tonight they take on LaSalle College at Philadelphia in a meet termed by the coach as "the toughest so far this year."

Lack of Depth Main Reason for Defeats

The team has had a number of consistent scorers in the past few meets in the person of Joe Doyle, Tom Jeffers, and Al Kubelius (the latter turning in an unofficial record time of 1:58.2 in the 200 yd. freestyle.) But, according to coach Bill, "the team does not have enough balance and depth this season and has been failing to collect those second and third place points."

Klarner, the most successful Mason-Dixon coach in the past few years, still has an optimistic outlook. He is impressed by the increasingly fine performances of freshmen Brian Bergher, Bob St. Ours, and Murray Stevens, and counts on them to provide that extra push enabling the club to get back into the win column.

Greyhounds Run Second In Tournament's Finale

A late surge by a determined Loyola five fell short as St. Michael's of Vermont prevailed, 96-89, in a free wheeling finale to the third annual Christmas Invitational Tournament at Evergreen. St. Michael's had upset Delaware, 100-82, featuring Dick Tarrent's record breaking 35 points performance, and Loyola had easily handled Albright, 94-69, in the opening round to set up the meeting.

Tarrent Stars

Tarrent, an adept passer, rugged rebounder, and possessor of a deadly shooting eye, sponsored St. Michael's to a 49-41 lead at the half. With soph Vince Kazalonis sniping from the outside, the Knights extended their advantage to seventeen points with eleven minutes remaining. A small and listless crowd finally came to life when the Hounds employed a well organized full court press to demolish this lead and pull within 75-73 with seven minutes to go. Dick Tarrent's turn around jumper at the key ignited a St. Michael's recovery, and the Knights constructed a nine point lead with less than three minutes. The Hounds would not concede as Maher's clutch drives and Alex Cummings timely jump shot cut the gap to 94-89 with a minute left. With the seconds ticking away, Maher's drive along the base line was ruled an offensive foul. This sealed the Hounds doom. Besides Maher's 28 point performance, Cummings, Bob Lister and Bill Carew chipped in with 14, 13 and 11 points respectively.

Albright Wins

Albright won the consolation game against Delaware, 65-64, in the last two seconds on Jim McNeill's drive.

Intramurals

In the week before the holidays began, there was a full, six game intramural basketball schedule, with both teams most likely to finish 1-2 playing. The Polar Bears played twice, defeating the Sharks and the Rebels, and the Mavericks routed the senior Schizoids.

In their first game, the Bears trampled the Sharks 57-29. Ed Burchell and John Campbell led the Bear attack with 13, and 12 points each. Bill Harbold led the Sharks vain effort with 10 points. In their second game, the Bears, though scoring less, looked more impressive as they played together as a unit while downing the Rebels 49-15. John Campbell and Charlie Cherry led Bear effort with 14 points each. John White tallied 10 for the Rebels.

Satterfield Stars

The Mavericks had a relatively easy time in defeating the Schizoids 55-31. The Mavericks had a decided height and experience advantage in the person of playmaker Jody Satterfield. French And Verdecchia scored 10 each for the Mavericks. The Far Tars routed Harvey's Bhoys 58-24. Schneider led the Tar scoring with 10 points, and Atkinson and Garvey tallied 10 each. D. Palmer sank 10 for the hapless Bhoys. The Hummers defeated a patched-together senior squad, the Eskimo's, 31-9. B. Heffner led the Hummers with 9 points, Ed Lochte the Eskimos with 4.

The closest game of the week was the Dirty Dozen's 26-20 victory over the Scabs. Frank Phelan threw in 10 for the Dozen, and Norloff led the Scabs with 5.

Matmen At B.U.

Last Tuesday the Hound wrestlers racked up their second win of the season in as many starts against American University, although the actual results are not yet known. It is a foregone conclusion about the outcome of Tuesday's match considering the team that Loyola has this year.

B.U. Tomorrow

Tomorrow the matmen will strive for a third against Baltimore University with the match being held at the Rogers Avenue gym at 2:00 p.m. They will be led by Schlipp, Milligan, Delphi, and Eiswert, the quartet that turned in brilliant pins against Gallaudet.

The Hounds held some tough practices during the holidays, and since no members are in Florida, and none except one member in the 123 pound class shoved away second helpings of Turkey, the Hounds are set to garner a win.

Flash!

The Hounds met American University at their Washington campus where they defeated them 32-10 with 5 falls in 9 matches.
